Maintaining Effective Communication with Site Directors

The responsibility rests with the Program Director to communicate at least annually but as often as necessary to ensure excellent educational experience consistent with program goals and objectives with all faculty site directors at all participating sites for their program.

Proof of these communications will be verified during the Annual Program Review with the DIO.

Deficiencies will be reported to the GMEC. A response from the Program Director with a plan of correction will be required to be submitted for review by the GMEC.
