29th Annual WV Addiction Training Institute

June 13-15, 2018

Holiday Inn Morgantown-University, Morgantown, WV

Sponsored by

West Virginia University Behavioral Medicine and Psychiatry

Course Description

The 29th Annual West Virginia Addiction Training Institute (ATI) features current developments within the physical, emotional, social, and spiritual areas of substance use disorder behavior. Special topics for 2018 include: youth opioid addiction, motivational interviewing, Neurobiology of opioid addiction, experiential interventions with opioid addiction, pornography addiction, infectious disease risks, veteran population and substance use. This course is designed for new and experienced professionals who are seeking a thorough review of both the established fundamentals of addiction and current approaches to working with the behavioral addictions and the substance use disorders population. The training is valuable for those working or planning to work in the areas of mental health, addictions counseling, courts and corrections, school counseling, nursing and psychology.

Course Objectives

The goals of the ATI are to assist professionals in examining the increasing issues of addiction in the state; provide an up-to-date look at treatment strategies; and in turn add to their repertoire of effective therapeutic techniques in working with individuals, family, and community members affected by the disease of addiction.

Following this course, participants should be able to:

- understanding youth opioid use disorder
- discuss why an understanding of neurobiology is important for understanding of traumatic stress and opioid addiction
- describe how experiential interventions fit into SAMSHA's best practice principles for opioid addiction
- demonstrate application of the counseling skills of open ended questions, affirmations, reflections and summaries
- identify MI from alternative communication styles
- discuss their understanding of military culture
- describe the screening processes for these common sequelae of injection drug use
