

All fellows in graduate training programs at West Virginia University School of Medicine must provide proof of an unrestricted license to practice medicine in West Virginia before they can begin their training program.