The Beginnings

Halvard Wanger, MD

In 1956, Dr. Halvard Wanger organized an extensive scientific assembly to celebrate the Eastern Panhandle Medical Association's 50th anniversary.

Participants praised the Potomac-Shenandoah Postgraduate Institute's outstanding speakers, who had been invited because senior students at medical colleges in the Eastern United States voted them best lecturers in their respective fields. This method for developing a roster of outstanding lecturers worked very well, and subsequent Institutes drew many participants.

Dr. Wanger directed the annual Institute through 1974. When Dr. Wanger cancelled the Institute in 1975 because of health reasons, the West Virginia University Department of Family Medicine assumed responsibility for continuing the fall conference. Dr. John Traubert, then the newly appointed Chair of Family Medicine, assumed the role of course director for the newly named Hal Wanger Family Medicine Conference, held at West Virginia University.

Since the original setting of the Postgraduate Institute was West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle, local orchards supplied apples for refreshments, a tradition that has been continued at West Virginia University.

Dr. Traubert considered Dr. Wanger the "founding father" of continuing medical education in West Virginia. This assessment is widely shared by medical peers throughout West Virginia. West Virginia University is proud to carry on the legacy begun by Dr. Hal Wanger, a leader and pioneer in continuing medical education.

Upon Dr. Traubert's retirement, the conference continued under the direction of Dr. James Arbogast and Dr. Anne Cather for 15 years. Now the conference has entered a new era under the leadership of Chairman, Dr. Dana King and Dr. Erika Bodkins.

Conference Overview and Target Audience:

This year's conference will present an array of outstanding lectures on a variety of topics of interest to family physicians, nurses and other healthcare providers. Our WVU School of Medicine faculty will discuss primary care topics including leading an end of life discussion, common foot problems, hyperlipidemia update, a panel discussion on alternative pain management, and others. In addition, there will be preconference workshops on minor surgery skin procedures in Family Medicine, acupuncture, and a KSA workshop on hypertension. The conference will also feature evening workshops on ultrasound and beating burnout: building physician resilience using the four pillars of wellness. The included agenda lists each topic, the lecturer and expected learning objectives.

KSA:

This simplifies the MC-FP Part II requirement by conveniently fulfilling the knowledge portion of the "Hypertension" KSA as a group. We will complete the 60 core competency questions. To complete the entire KSA and earn CME, you will also need to complete a clinical simulation separately on the ABFM website (separate fee).

A minimum enrollment of five people is required or the KSA may be cancelled.

Registration:

To join us for the 45th Annual Hal Wanger Family Medicine Conference, please complete the registration form found at the Family Medicine website <http://medicine.hsc.wvu.edu/fammed/> (<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/wvu-family-medicine-45th-annual-hal-wanger-conference-registration-64228710803?aff=ebdshpsearchautocomplete>). Deadline to register is September 26, 2019.

Cancellations:

Important: If you are unable to attend the conference after you have registered, you must notify us in writing by September 26, 2019, to receive a refund. No refunds for conference fees will be made after September 26, 2019. A $25 fee will be charged for all cancelled registrations after September 26, 2019. We reserve the right to cancel individual sessions or the entire conference. In the event of a conference cancellation, a full tuition refund will be made.

Location:

The Holiday Inn Morgantown is located on 1188 Pineview Drive, Morgantown, WV 26505.

Lodging:

For your convenience, a block of hotel rooms with a discounted rate have been reserved at Holiday Inn Morgantown for Wednesday, October 2, through Sunday, October 6, 2019. All reservations should be made no later than Monday, September 9, to obtain the discounted rate. After this date, rooms will be available on a space
