

Featuring our Spotlight Speaker Jame Abraham, M.D.

Interim Institute Chair of Taussig Cancer Institute and Chairman of the Department of Hematology & Medical Oncology at Cleveland Clinic and Professor of Medicine at Cleveland Clinic Lerner College of Medicine.

· Vice Chair of the Research Review Committee for the National Surgical Adjuvant Breast and Bowel Project (NSABP) and a member of the Scientific Advisory Board for NSABP.

· Dr. Abraham was the study chair of several early-phase clinical trials that included novel treatments for breast cancer such as Ixabepilone, which was approved by the FDA in 2007. During his fellowship, Dr. Abraham edited the first edition of the Bethesda Handbook of Oncology (Lippincott Williams and Wilkins). Now in its 6th edition, it is one of the best-selling oncology textbooks in the world. It is considered the standard textbook by many universities and hospitals across the world.

After finishing fellowship, Dr. Abraham joined West Virginia University (WVU) in 2001 as an Assistant Professor. In 2005, he was appointed Chief of Hematology/Oncology and was later appointed as the first Bonnie Wells Wilson Distinguished Professor of Breast Cancer Research, and Professor of Medicine of WVU. While at WVU, Dr. Abraham established the first comprehensive breast cancer program in the state of West Virginia in 2002. He received several awards from WVU for patient care and teaching, including Attending of the Year and Teacher of the Year. His outstanding work in patient care was recognized by the Excellence in Clinical Medicine award from the Dean of the School of Medicine in 2010. He received an award from the President of India, Her Excellency Mrs. Pratibha Patil for his contribution to cancer care in 2010.

Following this lecture participants should be able to:

- Describe how research is changing the landscape of Cancer treatment.
- Recognize how someone can build a research and academic career.
- Discuss novel developments in breast cancer.

About Antonio Palladino, M.D.

A native of Italy, Dr. Antonio Palladino received his medical degree with highest honors from the University of Naples, Italy, and served his residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Baltimore City Hospital, University of Maryland Division.

As a faculty member in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at West Virginia University from 1964-1974, Dr. Palladino served as vice-chairman and director of the student teaching program. He later served as a clinical professor and was on the staff at Monongalia General Hospital. From 1974 until his death in June 1991, Dr. Palladino practiced with Drs. Walter A. Bonney and Kamal M. Behnam in Morgantown. He was certified by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology and the Italian Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

A special thank you to the Palladino family for making this a successful annual event. Through our endowed funding, we have been able to share with many from WVU School of Medicine and throughout the community. This will be our 28th annual lecture series we are very proud to be able to continue this.
